Programme on Role of Rural Women in Eradicating Superstitions

Organised by Assamese Department

Date: 18-11-2019

Venue: Bogijuli M.V. School of Sonitpur

Witch hunting, an atrocious practice and a socially sanctioned violence is still performing by various communities in Assam. Though Assam has become the latest state to implement an act prohibiting witch-hunting but a prominent activist against this social evil required strong legislation. Rangapara College, a pioneer institute of higher education in Rangapara area is surrounded by tea gardens where a number of cases have been recorded on this reiterated incident of killing people in the name of witch-hunting. To tackle this menace educational and social awareness is must needed. Keeping this in mind, an awareness programme was organized by Dept. of Assamese, Rangapara College in Bogijuli M.V. School of Sonitpur district on 18th of November, 2019. Mr. Jiten Hazarika, Associate Professor, Dept. of Assamese, Rangapara College and Miss Gitismita Bora were present in the awareness programme as the resource person. Both the speakers delivered their lectures to aware the people from this social menace. Joining of the local people and the students of the school made the event a big success.
